Edge Technologies Announces New Regional Sales Manager: Travis Prestidge

St. Louis, MO – Edge Technologies has announced the hiring of Travis Prestidge as the new South Central Regional Sales Manager, which includes the states of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Southern Illinois, Missouri, and Texas; as well as the country of Mexico.

Prestidge, a five year veteran of the machine tool industry, has a unique background in metrology and technical sales demonstration. He routinely worked with customers to ensure that their exacting tolerances could be met with the prospective capital equipment purchase, by way of coordinate measurement machines and laser trackers.

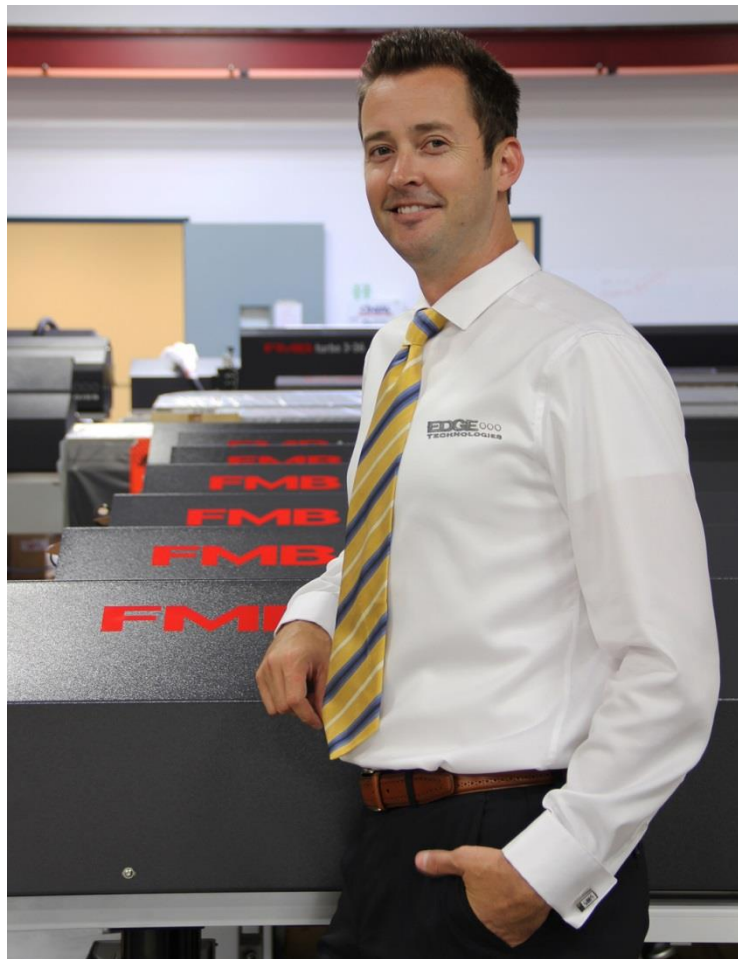

In addition to machine tool sales, Prestidge also has a wealth of previous sales experience. After gaining a Bachelor's Degree from Missouri State University in 2003, he went on to work at the regional sales level.

"I'm very passionate about manufacturing and couldn't be more excited to join the team at Edge", says Prestidge. "More importantly, however, I can't wait to forge new customer relationships."

"Travis brings five years accessory sales experience and an extensive knowledge of the dealer network to our organization", noted Rick Bauer, Vice President of Edge

Technologies. “We look forward to introducing him to our customer base and expect him to hit the ground running.”

Edge Technologies provides bar feeding, loading and unloading products for CNC lathes in the precision metal working industry. Edge Technologies has extensive experience and a history of success, demonstrated by 30 years of sales and service, including more than 10,000 successful installations of magazine bar feeders in the North American marketplace.
