Edge Technologies Announces Exclusive Minnesota Distributor: Garrett Veal

St. Louis, MO – Edge Technologies has announced the addition of Garrett Veal and his company, Castle Reps, as their exclusive distributor in Minnesota, and the Dakotas. Garrett will provide sales and technical support for the company’s FMB and Edge Tech magazine bar feeders, Vortex coolant mist filtration systems, Schlenker bar feeder pusher collets, lathe collets, and guide bushings.

Garrett has a ME degree from the University of Minnesota Mankato. His career has spanned engineering and management roles with Minneapolis area manufacturers and production machining operations, followed by long runs with Ingersoll Cutting Tools and SECO cutting tools in sales and sales management.

“Garrett fits the Edge Technologies sales engineer mold to a tee” remarked Kevin Meehan, President of Edge Technologies. “His two-plus decades of production turning experience will bring the Minnesota/Dakotas market a local presence and proven technical resource for magazine bar feeding applications and other lathe accessories like special collets and mist filtration.”
